About the Camp

The Colorado College Prospect Volleyball Camp is an advanced six session skills development camp designed for girls entering their junior or senior year. The camp curriculum is designed to be challenging with emphasis on individual and small group instruction, followed by competitive game training.

Instruction will be provided by the Colorado College volleyball coaching staff. Current and former team members will also help supplement training sessions as needed. Continuous assessment of prospects will occur with a written evaluation given to the prospect after the conclusion of the camp. The Prospect Camp is intended for ALL college bound student-athletes. Prospects will learn more about Colorado College and gain a better understanding of the college bound process.
